The architectural site plan of the National Diet Building is a detailed drawing showing the building's footprint, internal layout, and its relationship to the surrounding environment. The building is a large, rectangular structure with a complex internal layout, including numerous rooms, corridors, and outdoor spaces. The plan is oriented with a north arrow pointing towards the top right. A scale bar at the bottom indicates distances in meters, ranging from 0 to 12,000. The plan also shows the building's location relative to the surrounding roads and adjacent areas, including the National Diet Building Annex and the National Diet Building Underground Garage. The plan is divided into several sections, each labeled with a number and a letter, indicating different parts of the building and its surroundings. The plan is a technical drawing, using precise lines and labels to represent the building's structure and layout.
